

Notice and Note Nonfiction Signposts Cards

Print back to back for quick student reference daily!

By: Kreative Kelly

Contrasts and Contradictions

Contrasts and Contradictions

Contrasts and Contradictions

Contrasts and Contradictions

When you're reading and the author shows a difference between what you know and what is happening in the text.

Ask yourself:

"What is the difference and why does it matter?"

The answer will help you see details that show you the main idea.

When you're reading and the author shows a difference between what you know and what is happening in the text.

Ask yourself:

"What is the difference and why does it matter?"

The answer will help you see details that show you the main idea.

When you're reading and the author shows a difference between what you know and what is happening in the text.

Ask yourself:

"What is the difference and why does it matter?"

The answer will help you see details that show you the main idea.

When you're reading and the author shows a difference between what you know and what is happening in the text.

Ask yourself:

"What is the difference and why does it matter?"

The answer will help you see details that show you the main idea.

Extreme or
Absolute
Language

Extreme or Absolute
Language

Extreme or Absolute
Language

Extreme or Absolute
Language

When you're reading and the author uses language that leaves no doubt, exaggerates, or pushes to the limit.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author say it like that?"

The answer will tell you something about the author's point-of-view and purpose.

When you're reading and the author uses language that leaves no doubt, exaggerates, or pushes to the limit.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author say it like that?"

The answer will tell you something about the author's point-of-view and purpose.

When you're reading and the author uses language that leaves no doubt, exaggerates, or pushes to the limit.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author say it like that?"

The answer will tell you something about the author's point-of-view and purpose.

When you're reading and the author uses language that leaves no doubt, exaggerates, or pushes to the limit.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author say it like that?"

The answer will tell you something about the author's point-of-view and purpose.

Numbers and
Stats

Numbers and Stats

Numbers and Stats

Numbers and Stats

When you're reading and you notice specific numbers, number words or amounts.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author use those numbers or amounts?"

The answers might help you come to a conclusion, make a comparison, see the details, infer, find facts, or recognize evidence.

When you're reading and you notice specific numbers, number words or amounts.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author use those numbers or amounts?"

The answers might help you come to a conclusion, make a comparison, see the details, infer, find facts, or recognize evidence.

When you're reading and you notice specific numbers, number words or amounts.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author use those numbers or amounts?"

The answers might help you come to a conclusion, make a comparison, see the details, infer, find facts, or recognize evidence.

When you're reading and you notice specific numbers, number words or amounts.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author use those numbers or amounts?"

The answers might help you come to a conclusion, make a comparison, see the details, infer, find facts, or recognize evidence.

Quoted Words

Quoted Words

Quoted Words

Quoted Words

When you're reading and you notice the author quoted a voice of authority, a personal perspective, or cited others words.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author quote or cite this person?"

The answers will help you think about the author's point-of-view, purpose, bias, or conclusion.

When you're reading and you notice the author quoted a voice of authority, a personal perspective, or cited others words.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author quote or cite this person?"

The answers will help you think about the author's point-of-view, purpose, bias, or conclusion.

When you're reading and you notice the author quoted a voice of authority, a personal perspective, or cited others words.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author quote or cite this person?"

The answers will help you think about the author's point-of-view, purpose, bias, or conclusion.

When you're reading and you notice the author quoted a voice of authority, a personal perspective, or cited others words.

Ask yourself:

"Why did the author quote or cite this person?"

The answers will help you think about the author's point-of-view, purpose, bias, or conclusion.

Word Gaps

Word Gaps

Word Gaps

Word Gaps

When you're reading and the author uses a word or phrase you don't know.

Ask yourself:

"Do I know this word from someplace else?"

The answers will help you decide if you need to look the word up, or keep reading for more information.

When you're reading and the author uses a word or phrase you don't know.

Ask yourself:

"Do I know this word from someplace else?"

The answers will help you decide if you need to look the word up, or keep reading for more information.

When you're reading and the author uses a word or phrase you don't know.

Ask yourself:

"Do I know this word from someplace else?"

The answers will help you decide if you need to look the word up, or keep reading for more information.

When you're reading and the author uses a word or phrase you don't know.

Ask yourself:

"Do I know this word from someplace else?"

The answers will help you decide if you need to look the word up, or keep reading for more information.

Thank You For Your Download!

Fonts and graphics by:

Follow me on IG: @kreative.kelly